 #360 A Hill Called Mount Calvary

"Christianity...comprises more than involvement in human rights struggles, environmental causes, or peace programs. Fullness of life in the Spirit is more than finding Christ in others and serving him there. It is a summons to personal holiness, ongoing conversion, and new creation through union with Christ Jesus" (Brennan Manning, The Importance of Being Foolish [New York: HarperCollins, 2005], 53).

COMMUNION: Eric Austin

ANNOUNCEMENTS: Tom Woodason

SCRIPTURE READER: Wayne Padgett, Jr.

Matthew 6: 19-24

What is this business of new creation? What is the task of ongoing conversion? Typically, we think of conversion as a static event, a moment in time that marks a change in our eternal destiny, a single instant in which we pass from "unsaved" to "saved." But conversion is far more radical than this, and, in a sense, it's something that must keep happening to us. Conversion is a total change in how we see the world, the progressive melting of our wills into Christ's, and the ever-expanding formation of Christ in us. It requires a steady practice, day by day, of Christian virtues. It requires a constant renewal, a continuing transformation that edges us further and further away from the persistent pull of our fleshly nature. Just when I begin to filter my decisions through financial gain, social prestige, security and comfort, or sheer pleasure, I must renew my mind again. I must be converted again to the mind of Christ. In all things, I must prioritize and re-prioritize the Gospel.

Prayer Request: Glenda Jones

Health and Safety Team: Group 1

There is an attended nursery for ages 6 months to 36 months during worship.

Today, Josh will be talking about the Gospel over all things. This is where the Gospel belongs in our lives. But just as we allow a new priority to dislodge its position of primacy in our hearts, we must be converted again. So, listen intently as Josh speaks of the priority of the Gospel. by Matt Carver

Guests: Please fill out a yellow attendance card and drop it in the collection plate.
